

<Marquee> HTML

The Marquee HTML tag is a non-standard HTML element which is used to scroll a image or text horizontally or vertically.

In simple words, you can say that it scrolls the image or text up, down, left or right automatically.

Marquee tag was first introduced in early versions of Microsoft's Internet Explorer. It is compared with Netscape's blink element.

HTML Marquee Attributes

Attribute	Description
behavior	It facilitates user to set the behavior of the marquee to one of the three different types: scroll, slide and alternate.
direction	defines direction for scrolling content. It may be left, right, up and down.
width	defines width of marquee in pixels or %.
height	defines height of marquee in pixels or %.
hspace	defines horizontal space in pixels around the marquee.

vspace	defines vertical space in pixels around the marquee.
scrolldelay	defines scroll delay in seconds.
scrollamount	defines scroll amount in number.
loop	defines loop for marquee content in number.
bgcolor	defines background color. It is now deprecated .